Becoming a Speech Sound Detective: Improving your Student's Performance

(.6 CEUs)

Description:

Speech-language pathologists are often frustrated by their clients' slow progress in remediating speech sound disorders. This session will refresh participants' skills in articulation (phonetics) and phonological patterns, updating their skills in doing real-time analysis of client errors. The session will review the components of a comprehensive assessment of speech sound disorders and use of these components for intervention planning. The session will include many application opportunities.

Instructor(s): Lissa Power-deFur
